

THE LIST

How did T arrive at this list? In a word, consensus. Experts were polled, from doctors to nutritionists, from makeup artists to beauty editors, in an effort to separate the wheat from the chaff. Doctors' board certifications were checked, and state medical boards confirmed that there were no past or pending malpractice suits. But since it is not possible to sample everyone's expertise firsthand, caveat emptor.

Jill Blakeway at the YinOva Center, 80 East 11th Street, Suite 407, New York, N.Y. 10003; (212) 533-2255; www.yinovacenter.com; $125 for first session; $95 thereafter (a second office is in Chatham, N.Y.; 518-392-4555). "Jill is a fertility goddess," says Marisa Schwartz, a 39-year-old Brooklyn-based teacher who conceived two sons under Blakeway's care after trying unsuccessfully for five years. An acupuncturist and Chinese herbalist, Blakeway specializes in pediatrics and women's conditions, including infertility, PMS, morning sickness and gynecological disorders.
